Affected Population Types - Definitions

IDPs - as defined according to the "Guiding Principles on Internal Displacement" internally displaced persons (IDPs) are persons or groups of persons who have been forced or obliged to leave their homes or places of habitual residence, and who have not crossed an internationally recognized State border.

Refugees - as defined by the 1951 Refugee convention. A person "owing a well-founded fear of being persecuted for reasons of race, religion, nationality, membership of a particular social group or political opinion, is outside the country of his nationality, and is unable to, or owing to such fear, is unwilling to avail himself of the protection of that country."

Planned camps - Purposefully officially recognized sites where services and infrastructure are provided or intended, depending on needs (e.g., water supply, community center, warehouse, school).

Self Settled Camps - Camps that were spontaneously created by the IDPs, however are not planned.

Returnee - These are former IDPs who have returned to the place where they lived before displacement, "Place of Origin," within Myanmar, out of their own free will and with consent of government and local authorities.

Return to a different place of residence - may apply to any of the affected population categories.

Crisis Affected people (non displaced) - People that are directly affected by any crisis (environmental or man-made), and have humanitarian needs, however are not displaced.

Vulnerable population - Those who do not have secure access to an appropriately nutritious diet coupled with a sanitary environment, adequate health care, and/or access to income and markets (according to the 21 Core Indicators).

Vulnerability Name - Vulnerability definition (Note – more than one of the affected population categories may apply)
